

Year 5 Spring Term Research Homework

Viking Research

We will be continuing to work on the Vikings as our History topic for the rest of this half term and will continue it into next half term in year 5. However, we will gradually be changing our focus to Viking families, homes and villages. We would like you to spend some time researching an area of Viking family life that interests you.

This website, in the 'What was Life Like in Viking Britain' section, (if you have access to the internet) is a good place to begin and may help you to think about which area you would like to find out more about:

www.bbc.co.uk/schools/primaryhistory/vikings/

You can of course, use books and other websites to help you with your research too.

Here are some possible topics for your research. Choose one area to focus on:

- The role of children, women or men
- Clothing/weaving
- Family chores
- Pastimes /games

You just need to bring in NOTES. Do not present it as a report or a powerpoint. It may be useful to include drawings or diagrams that you can add into your report.

We will be writing up the information that you find from your research into a non-chronological report (this will link in with our Literacy unit on report writing). Please aim to bring your homework into school in the week beginning Monday January 28th.
